

Levine Scholarship For Study-Abroad Students in Japan

The Gregory Levine Scholarship aims to assist students in conducting research or exploring a topic or activity of interest in Japan. It is designed for students who are currently on study-abroad and would like to extend their stay in Japan after the program is finished to conduct research or explore a focused topic.

We invite you to apply for this grant if you have a project in mind that you would like to pursue and are able to extend your stay. Your project might be 1.) preparation for a capstone paper or an honors project for your senior year at Oberlin; 2.) a follow-up of some area of study discovered during your study-abroad program; 3.) a new topic of exploration inspired by your experience living in Japan.

- Award amount: up to $2,500
- Award can be used for: lodging, food, transportation, books, materials or fees necessary for the project or for research (Original receipts for these items must be retained and submitted to Oberlin.)
- Minimum required stay in Japan outside the dates of your study-abroad program: Four (4) weeks.
- Awardee is responsible for procuring a valid visa to remain in Japan for the duration of the proposed project.

Eligibility: Awardee must be:

- Studying abroad in Japan through an Oberlin-approved program (exceptions may be made only after consulting with EAS faculty).
- An EAS major or minor (or, must declare an EAS major or minor upon return to Oberlin).
